GENERAL PREFACE.

Soon after the organization of the Holland Society of New York, the attention of the trustees was called to the importance of securing copies of the records of the ancient Dutch Churches of the country. If only for the purpose of tracing the lineage of the descendants of the early Dutch settlers, these records are of great value. The practice of baptising their children within a very few days of birth, was almost universal with members of the Dutch Church; and as the baptismal records usually contain, in addition to the father's name, the maiden name of the mother, they afford peculiar aid to the genealogist. Additional value is given to the marriage records by the fact that they frequently mention the birth-places of the several parties.

It is quite remarkable how large a proportion of these early records has been preserved to the present day. Exposed to the danger of fire and other calamities, and in recent times frequently handled by interested persons, seeking genealogical or historical information, the wonder is that any of them are yet in existence.

Some of them have been lost; for example, those of the Ponds' Church, Bergen county, New Jersey, dating back to 1710, after an existence of a century and a half, were destroyed by the burning of the pastor's house.

A few of the churches now preserve these venerable documents in fireproof safes, and permit them to be examined only under such conditions as may expose them to the least injury. It is to be desired that all the churches should exercise the greatest diligence in caring for the records yet extant.

A list of the Dutch Reformed Churches organized prior to the close of the eighteenth century (taken from Corwin's Manual), with the particulars of their records as far as known, is here given.

The following records have been published, or are in course of publication:

New York, organized 1628. Marriage and baptismal records begin 1639; membership, 1649. They have been for seventeen years in course of publication in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society's Record. That society has just issued a volume including the marriages down to 1801, and expect to issue shortly an additional volume, giving the baptisms down to 1730. If they pursue the course hitherto adopted, of printing a few pages only in their quarterly Record, it will be many years before all the baptisms of the eighteenth century are in print. The committee has had copied these baptismal records from 1730 to 1801.

Albany, 1642, and Schenectady, 1670. Records arranged by families by Prof. Pearson, of Union College, have been published by Munsell, of Albany.

Kingston, 1659. Records have been copied for publication by Rev. R. R. Hoes, a member of the Holland Society, and are in the hands of the printers.

Brooklyn, 1660. The marriage and baptismal records from 1660 to 1710, were published in "Manuals of the Common Council of Brooklyn" for 1867 and 1869, and have recently been republished by the Kings County Genealogical Club. A list of the church members at organization is given in Vol. I., of "Stiles' History of the City of Brooklyn."

Bergen, 1662. Records in alphabetical order, but not complete, are contained in "Winfield's Land Titles of Hudson County."

Port Richmond, Staten Island, 1690. The baptismal records have recently been published in "Bayles' History of Richmond County."

Tappan, 1694 and Clarkstown, 1750. The baptismal records copied by the Rev. Dr. David Cole, of Yonkers, N. Y., have been published in his "History of Rockland County." Copies of all the other existing records of the ancient Dutch churches of Rockland county have been made by, and are in possession of, Dr. Cole, who has spent much time and labor in the work.

Tarrytown, 1697. A portion of the early records appears in "Scharff's History of Westchester County."

Lunenburg. The baptismal records of this Dutch Lutheran Church (near Catskill), are published in the "History of Greene County," in full from 1704 to 1748, and in part from 1748 to 1788.

Machackemech (Deer Park, Port Jervis), 1737. The marriage records, with a partial list of members and of the consistory, were published by Mr. W. H. Nearpass, of Port Jervis.

Totowa (Paterson), 1755. The records are in print and will be published in the course of the year.

North and South Hampton, Bucks Co., Pa., 1710. The records have been prepared for publication by Rev. Samuel Strong.

A committee was appointed by the trustees of the Society to ascertain the condition of the records of the churches antedating the present century, and to transcribe and publish them. They found that a number of these records have been copied, the copies being in possession of persons now members of our Society, and a few records have been published, or are now in process of publication, as recited hereinafter. The committee have caused to be transcribed the records of all the remaining churches, so far as they have been able to obtain them. They gratefully acknowledge the courtesy of the Pastors and Consistories, who have, in most cases, forwarded the original books to the committee in New York.

The records of the following churches have been copied and are in possession sion of the Holland Society. The date first given is that of the organization of the church, and the others the period included in the records copied ; in some cases, however, the records are not continuous :

INTRODUCTION.

This first volume of Collections, now presented, consists of the records of the churches at Hackensack and Schraalenburgh, in Bergen county, New Jersey. These villages are about four miles from each other, and during the whole period comprised within these collections, there was such close connection between the churches, that their records necessarily are included in one volume. During many years, the same pastors ministered to both congregations. The records in possession of the (South) church at Schraalenburgh (present P. O. Bergen Fields), contain particulars which refer to the congregation at Hackensack, and vice versa. This fact must be borne in mind, because items which ordinarily might be looked for in the records of the one church will frequently be found in those of the other.

A brief history of the churches may be appropriate in this place, as it will serve to explain this intermingling of the records.

The church at Hackensack was organized in 1686, with thirty-three members, by Dominie Peter Taschemaker, who, four years later, became one of the victims of the Indian massacre at Schenectady. In 1694 Rev. Guilaem Bertholf became the pastor of the churches at Hackensack and Aquackanonck, which at that time were united. In 1696 the first church building was erected at Hackensack. Dominie Bertholf continued as pastor until his death in 1724, when the connection of the church with that at Aquackanonck was dissolved. In this latter year the church at Schraalenburgh was organized, and Rev. Reinhart Erickson became pastor of that church, and of the one at Hackensack.

He resigned in 1728, in which year a new church building was erected in the latter village. The next pastor at Hackensack was Rev. Antonius Curtenius, who began his ministry in November, 1730. At about the same date, the church at Schraalenburgh, jointly with that at Paramus, called Rev. George Wilhelmus Mancius, and he was installed pastor September 19th, 1731. The call to Dominie Mancius is copied in full in the Schraalenburgh records, and a translation will be found in Part II. of this volume. He remained only about one year, and upon his departure Schraalenburgh again became united with Hackensack under the same pastor.

In 1748 Rev. John Henry Goetschius was called as a colleague with Dominie Curtenius in the two churches, and was installed October 16th, 1748. The call specifies that the two pastors were to preach on alternate Sundays in the two congregations. During this joint pastorate, serious dissensions arose in the churches which were not healed for a century. The original disagreements were augmented by the dispute concerning "Coetus" and "Conferentie." Dr. Theodore B. Romeyn, in his "Historical Discourse on the occasion of the re-opening of the Dutch church at Hackensack," May 2d, 1869, to which we are mainly indebted for the facts of this sketch, says: "The 'Coetus' party desired separation from the classis of Amsterdam, in Holland, and organization with a classis in this country, with power of ordination and judicial authority. The opposing party wished the classical authority to remain invested in the classis in Holland. In that case, it would be necessary that every minister settled here should come from Holland already ordained, or go there for ordination. The 'Coetus' party formed the progressive party of the times. * * In 1738 a plan of a coetus or assembly, which should be subordinate to the classis of Amsterdam, was adopted by the churches of this country, which was sent to the classis of Amsterdam, in Holland, for approbation. It took that classis about nine years to return an answer (1747), which was of concurrence. Upon this favorable turn to their requests, the first meeting of the Coetus was held in the September following, in the city of New York. Subsequently (1754) this 'Coetus' proposed a separate organization as a classis, with classical powers. Against this, opposition arose on the part of about one-half of the ministry, who styled themselves 'Conferentie.' The 'Conferentie' met first in 1755. The members constituting it were composed of the most learned men, while those of the 'Coetus' were men of practical preaching, zeal and industry. Between these parties, the most intensely bitter feelings seem to have prevailed throughout the Dutch church denomination. * * In these divisions we find the colleagues of the churches of Hackensack and Schraalenburgh taking opposite ground. Rev. Mr. Curtenius was of the 'Conferentie' party and Rev. Mr. Goetschius of the 'Coetus.' Although about this time (May 2d, 1755) Mr. Curtenius left for Flatbush, yet the fire was kindled and the fuel was ready and burning vigorously. Peace had fled the border of their congregations. Families were divided among themselves, and indignities were heaped upon one another. One result of this dissension was the division of these two churches into two distinct organizations, where there was but one, and two congregations at Hackensack and two at Schraalenburgh, worshiping on alternate Sabbaths in the same building, each acknowledging the right of the other to one-half the property at each location."

In 1766 the Rev. John Schuyler was called as pastor by the party that adhered to the 'Conferentie.' The adherents of Dominie Goetschius attended his services at Hackensack or Schraalenburgh, as he preached in either village, journeying from one to the other, and the friends of Dominie Schuyler pursued the same course. Thus it will be readily understood that the names upon the records now in the possession of the respective churches in the two villages do not indicate that the persons resided in the village whose church holds the respective records, but rather that they were adherents of that pastor by whom the particular record was kept.

In 1759 Dominie Schuyler resigned, and for nine years Dominie Goetschius was the only regular minister in the two villages. In 1768 Rev. Cornelius Blauw became pastor of the party opposed to Mr. Goetschius, remaining, however, only three years. He was followed by Rev. Warmoldus Kuypers, who, for about three years, was contemporary with Mr. Goetschius. The latter died about November 14th, 1774, and was succeeded by Rev. Theodorick (Dirck) Romeyn, who was pastor through the stormy years of the Revolutionary war. He resigned in 1784, and was followed by the Rev. Solomon Froeligh, who was installed in 1786, and continued as pastor until his death, more than forty years later.

Mr. Kuypers was pastor for nearly thirty years and until his death, which occurred September 10th, 1797.

He was succeeded by Rev. James V. C. Romeyn, who was installed in December, 1799, and remained as pastor until 1833.

A new church edifice was erected at Hackensack in 1792, which has been twice enlarged and remodeled; a view of which is given as a frontispiece.

A new edifice was also erected at Schraalenburgh in 1799, a view of which appears preceding the records of the church at that place.

DUTCH NOMENCLATURE.

It may not be amiss to add a word upon the subject of Dutch surnames, for the benefit of those whose attention has not been directed to the matter, inasmuch as some of the names on the earliest records of Hackensack do not appear under the surnames which the families now bear. Family names were not common among the early Dutch immigrants. Persons of the same baptismal names were distinguished from each other in various ways; sometimes by their trade, as Jan Kuyper—that is, John the cooper; Jan Metzlaer—that is, John the mason, etc. Sometimes by their place of birth or residence; for example: Jan Van Wyck—that is, John from Wyck; Jan Vandeventer—that is, John from Deventer, etc. At other times by affixing the father's baptismal name, with the addition of s, se, sen, etc., indicating the relationship. For example: Jan Pieters, or Pietersen—that is, John, the son of Peter; Jan Jansen, or Jan Hanse, etc.—that is, John, the son of John, etc. It will readily be seen how difficult is the task of tracing the genealogy of these early settlers, when a family may have had a different surname from that of its immediately preceding generation. Toward the end of the seventeenth century, most of the settlers had assumed family names, and thereafter, those who had hitherto been known as Gerritsens, Albertsens, etc., were known as Blauvelts, Terhunes, etc.

The first name that appears on the roll of members at Hackensack is Hendrick Jorese, and his wife, Claesie Cornelese, who was Henry, son of George, one of the ancestors of the Brinkerhoff family, his wife being the daughter of Cornelius, one of the Bogert family.

We append, for the purpose of identification, the present family names of some of those who appear in the early records of Hackensack, only under their patronymics :

As it can be clearly and sufficiently seen from a list which the Rev. consistories of Hackinsack and Schralenburg have circulated, what every one in the congregations would voluntarily subscribe, not only for the salary of a second preacher, viz : Domineer J. H. Goetsius, but also for traveling expenses and the board of their two preachers ; and WHEREAS the congregations, under their own signatures, have empowered both consistories to enter into an agreement with their dominies, in their name, about traveling expenses and of board, THEREFORE the Rev. consistory of Hackensack (viz : Gerrit Hoppe, Hendrik J. Blinkerhof, Daniel Romein, Jan Berdan, as elders ; Lourens Akkerman, Jacob Van Zaan, Jan Etsel, Hendrik Banta, as deacons), have made an agreement with their pastor, Antonius Curtenius, for traveling expenses and board for three pounds per year.

We, the above named persons, can bear witness to the foregoing.

JAMES V. ROMEYN, V. D. M.

In consistory, held at the house of Joast Demarest, June 24, 1800.

Present: The whole of the members of the consistories of Hackinsack and Scralinburgh, except Gerrit Van Giesen and John Ackerman.

Opened with prayer.

A certified copy of the decisions of the general synod, held at Albany in this current month, relative to the appeal of Rev. Solomon Freeligh, from the decision of the particular synod of May last, was read.

Ordered, That said decision of the general synod be entered on the minutes of the consistory. The above decision is in the words following:

ALBANY, Wednesday, June 11, 1800, 9 o'clock A. M..

Case of Hackinsack and Scralenburgh.

It was moved that the appeal of Dom. Freeligh to this general synod, and the minutes of the particular synod relative thereto, be now read; which was done. The reasons, mentioned in the appeal, were then read, and are as follows, viz:

The Rev. Solomon Freeligh, in the name of the consistories of Hackinsack and Scralenburgh, demanded an appeal from the decision of the particular synod to the general synod:

1. Because members were admitted without producing their credentials.
2. Because members who were admitted to a seat and voice in the discussion of this case, by a decision of synod, were, by a subsequent decision, deprived of their seats and voice.
3. Because a part of the above mentioned congregations are authorized to prosecute a call, and supplies are granted them without the approbation of the consistories of those congregations.

The first reason was then taken up and discussed, after which the following motion was made, viz:

Resolved, That the first reason on which the appellant grounds his appeal is insufficient;

Which was put and carried in the affirmative.

On a motion, again

Resolved, That the second reason on which the appellant grounds his appeal is also insufficient. The third was then taken up and in part discussed. Adjourned

3 o'clock P. M.

A motion was made and seconded, which is as follows:

Resolved, That the third reason stated in the appeal is well founded, and, therefore, that it be sustained.

After discussing the subject the motion was put and negatived. A motion was then made, and is in the following words:

Resolved, That though the appellant had sufficient grounds to bring questions which seemed disputable, or of doubtful interpretation, before this synod for a final decision, yet these grounds are not, in the judgment of this synod, sufficient to sustain the appeal, or to reverse the transactions of the particular synod; but this synod do hereby confirm the same.

This motion was carried in the affirmative. Another motion was next made, and is as follows:

Resolved, That as the people formerly under the care of Rev. Warmoldus Kuypers, have, in consequence of the decision of the particular synod, made a call on the Rev. James V. Romeyn, and as the classis of Hackinsack have approved the same, and the said Mr. Romeyn has been installed as pastor of said people, this synod do hereby ratify these proceedings so far as that the said Mr. Romeyn be considered as the pastor of said people, and a member of the classis of Hackinsack.

This motion was also carried in the affirmative. On motion,

Resolved, That in consideration of the differences which have long subsisted between the people, now under the care of Rev. James V. Romeyn, and those under the care of Rev. Solomon Freleigh; the frequent and unsuccessful attempts to compose these differences, and the prospect that their continuance as united congregations would not be for their own comfort and the interest of religion; it be recommended to them, to separate and accommodate their civil concerns, on the principle of equity and with the temper of Christians. And though this synod have no authority to dissolve their connection, which subsists by incorporation, and do not in the least interfere in this business, further than by recommendation, yet they do hereby resolve, that in an ecclesiastical sense, the said congregations be entirely distinct, having no dependence in, nor relation to, one another, further than what is proper between congregations, belonging to the same church, and under the same judicatory.

The following protest was next laid upon the table:

We, the undersigned, in the name of the consistories of Hackinsack and Scralenburgh, and as their representatives, do hereby protest against the several decisions of the general synod.

Signed,

SOLOMON FRALIGH.
JACOBUS DEMAREST.

Ordered, That said protest be entered on the minutes.

Extract from the minutes.

Test: ISAAC LABAGH, }
WILHELMUS ELTING, } Clerks of Synod.

On motion,

Resolved, by the consistory, That a letter be addressed to the Rev. Solomon Freleigh and his consistories, expressing the willingness of these consistories, agreeably to the recommendation of general synod, to separate, and accommodate their civil concerns on the principle of equity, and with Christian moderation.

The following letter was accordingly addressed:

BRETHREN: We, the consistories of Hackinsack and Scralenburgh, under the care of Rev. James V. Romeyn, being met, and taking into consideration the decision and recommendation of general synod relative to the congregations under the care of Rev. Solomon Freleigh, and Rev. James V. Romeyn, and deeming it a duty to act in obedience to their recommendation, take this opportunity to express our willingness to separate the civil concerns of the above congregations, on the principles of equity, and with the temper of Christians. If this should meet your approbation, and it is communicated to us, future arrangements may be made for the above purpose. Hoping that it may tend to the peace and welfare of the whole of that Zion concerned in it, and requesting an answer as soon as convenient.

We are brethren, your well wishers, etc.

In the name of the consistory :

(Signed),

JAMES V. ROMEYN, Pres.

Concluded with prayer.

To the above an answer was received on July 5, declaring, that "No decisive answer can be given to said letter, until the general synod furnish this consistory with an authenticated copy of the decision, it refers to."

In consistory, met at Peter I. Demarest's, Sept. 6, 1800.

The consistory (after having made repeated applications to Rev. Mr. Fraligh for becoming partakers or sharers in the new church building at Scralenburgh, and having offered to pay an equal half of the expenses, incurred in building, provided they might enjoy equal privileges with Mr. Fraligh's congregation, and having met with a refusal), finding themselves necessitated to commence the building of a new church, the old one being unfit for use,

Resolved, That the congregation be requested to signify their wish, relative to the site, by signing, and that the place for which the majority sign, shall be the place on which the church shall stand. That the consistory call on all the subscribers to the call, between this and the 13th inst., at which time they will meet, count the votes, and determine.

13th September. Consistory opened with prayer. On comparing the lists of subscribers for the site of the church, it appeared there were for Scralenburgh, at Major Isaac Kip's 91; and for the Flatts, on the land of Col. Isaac Nicoll, 59 signatures; it was, therefore, carried in favor of Scralenburg 32 votes.

Resolved, That the consistory immediately repair to the spot, to view and mark the place where the church shall stand.

Resolved, That on Wednesday next, at 1 o'clock, the congregation be requested to attend at the above spot, for appointing managers and making articles for building the church.

Wednesday the congregation of Scralenburgh met according to request. The following plan for building a church, was adopted, viz :

WHEREAS, The congregation of Scralenburgh, in the county of Bergen, under the care of Rev. James V. Romeyn, labors under great inconvenience in holding public worship, owing to the decayed state of the old church, and,

WHEREAS, They have made repeated applications and equitable offers to Rev. Solomon Frealigh and his consistory for being admitted as sharers in the new church, lately built by the congregation under his care, and having met with a peremptory refusal: and,

WHEREAS, They find it their duty and are prompted by a pious inclination to build a house for God, they have determined, by and with the advice of the consistory, to proceed with the building thereof in the following manner, and according to the following plan, viz :

1. The house shall be built at the line of division between Major Isaac Kipp and Jacob Quackinbush, and adjoining the road leading through Scralenburgh to Tappan.

2. The said house of worship shall be of the following dimensions, viz: 60 feet long and 52 wide.

3. The following persons shall be trustees, to whom the church and glebe shall be conveyed, and in whom the title of the same shall be vested, which trustees shall be held to convey the said church, glebe, etc., whenever they shall be required so to do by the consistory of this congregation, to them, the said consistory, and their successors in office, forever, viz : Albert Bogert, Johannes Van Wagenen, Abraham Demarest and Nicausey Voorhis.

4. That those persons who have voted for building the church at the above place, pay for the glebe.

5. The following persons shall be, and are, hereby appointed managers, whose business it shall be to engage laborers, procure materials, superintend the work, do everything in their power to promote the building, and take in voluntary subscriptions to defray the expenses. The first payment, being a full third part, shall become due and be paid on the first day of March next ; the second third part when the building is under roof, and the last third when it is completed. Said managers shall be allowed six shillings per day, for each day they, or any of them, are employed in their services as above. The managers are Jacob Quackinbush, Isaac Kipp, John Demarest, Nicausey Voorhis, Karel Debaan, Peter P. Demarest, Johannis Blauvelt.

6. If any person or persons shall choose to deliver at the place where the church shall be built, any necessary materials for the building, such materials shall be placed to his or their credit, the same as if the amount had been paid in money.

For every sufficient load of stone shall be allowed 3s. 6d., and for timber such market price as it sells for at any of the landing places, from the old bridge to Hackinsack.

7. Whenever the church is completed, the seats shall be sold to the highest bidder, at public vendue, and money or materials subscribed, advanced and furnished by any person or persons, shall be put to his or their credit, on the purchase of a seat or seats ; and, further, that after the sale a regular entry of the purchaser's name, and the seat, or pew or pews by him purchased shall be made, in a book to be kept for that end. The fees to be paid the consistory for entering such transfer or record, shall be four shillings for each individual seat.

INDEX.

There was some question as to the best mode of preparing this index, inasmuch as there are so many variations in spelling the cognomens as well as the baptismal names in these records. The dominies, voorlesers, or whoever acted as scribe, appear to have exercised their own judgment as to orthography, and frequently varied it without apparent reason. For example: the name of Elizabeth Lezsher is found on page 12; Elizabeth Liset on page 154; Elizabeth Lesse on page 155; Elizabeth Lesser on pages 159, 166, 173 and 178; and Elizabeth Lesker on page 163. On examination it will be found that these several records refer to the same individual.

If all the names were indexed separately, just as they appear in the records, with the original spelling, it is evident that the work of tracing family lineages by the unskilled searcher would be greatly increased. It was concluded, therefore, that it would facilitate reference by embracing under one heading all names evidently belonging to one family, and indexing them, as far as practicable, under that form which is now in most common use.

Appended will be found a list of some of the most numerous variations in the surnames that appear in these records:
